ConsentForm University of Illinois at Chicago
Consent Form for Participation

Thank you for your interest in our study! Please read the following statement before you proceed.

Principal Investigator: Sylvia Morelli Vitousek
Department: Psychology
Address and Contact Information: 1007 West Harrison St, Chicago, IL 60607
Emergency Contact Information: Dr. Sylvia Morelli Vitousek, PhD – 312-996-2701
Mahnaz Roshanaei, PhD - 310-920-6264

Why am I being asked?

We're a team of researchers from the University of Illinois conducting an online research study on people's life stories. We're interested in your thoughts and emotions when you read about major events in people's lives. For this study you must have desktop/ laptop. This research study is being sponsored by Google.

Please read this form carefully before you agree to participate in this research. Your participation in this research is voluntary. Your decision to participate or not to participate will not affect your current and/or future relationship with UIC

What is the purpose of this research?

The purpose of this research is to expand our understanding of reader's thoughts and emotions when they read about major events in people's lives.

What procedures are involved?

If you agree to participate in this online study, we will ask you to do the following things: Read short passages and rate these stories on a number of different dimensions. Complete a few surveys on your personality and emotions. Provide demographic information, as well as some personal and sensitive information such as gender and sexual orientation. You have the option to not answer and skip any questions that you don't feel comfortable answering. You also have the option to stop and withdraw from the study without penalty. Participation will last approximately 20 minutes.

Approximately 20,000 participants (who are native English speakers and 18 years and older) may be involved in this research.

What are the potential risks and discomforts?

Due to nature of the online study not being 100% secure, there is the risk that a breach of privacy (others will know the subject is participating in research) and confidentiality (accidental disclosure of identifiable data) may occur. Other than these, there are no other potential risks and discomfort associated with participating in this research more than one experiences in daily life.

Are there benefits to taking part in the research?
There are none.

What about privacy and confidentiality?
All data collected during this experiment will be used only for research purposes. No identifiable information is being collected and Qualtrics/M-Turk will be configured in advance not to allow researchers access to collect any identifiable information, including their IP addresses. Researchers will do everything to keep data confidential but online studies are not 100 % secure. Only our key research team personnel will know about your participation in our research study. We will not and are not allowed to provide any of your recorded data to other researchers without your written permission, although for monitoring purpose, they may be reviewed by UIC IRB and State of Illinois auditors.

All survey data will be associated with a subject number that is in no way connected to your identity and it's not possible to identify any individual based on his/her survey response. Study data hard copies will be kept in a locked cabinet, in a locked office, and any presentation or publication of the results of this study will not identify any individual subject.

Will I be reimbursed for any of my expenses or paid for my participation in this research?
You will earn up to $3.00 for completing the online study through Amazon MTurk. If you choose to withdraw from the study without completing the entire survey, you will not get paid. It is required that you complete the entire survey to receive credit for the hit on Amazon Mechanical Turk and receive $3.00.

Can I withdraw or be removed from the study?
Your participation in this study is entirely voluntary. You can choose to withdraw anytime from this study without consequences of any kind. You may also refuse to answer any questions you do not want to answer and still remain in the study. The investigator may withdraw you from this research if circumstances arise which warrant doing so.

Who should I contact if I have questions?
The researcher conducting this study is Dr. Mahnaz Roshanaei. You may ask any questions you have now. If you have questions, please contact any of the following researchers by e-mail:
Dr. Mahnaz Roshanaei at mroshana@uic.edu
Dr. Sylvia Morelli Vitousek at smorelli@uic.edu
Dr. Elena Zeleva at ezheleva@uic.edu

What are my rights as a research subject?
If you have any questions about your rights as a research subject, you may call the Office for Protection of Research Subjects at 312-996-1711 or you may email the UIC Institutional Review Board at uicirb@uic.edu.

Remember: Your participation in this research is entirely voluntary. Your decision will not have any negative effect on you or on your current or future relations with UIC, for example if you are UIC student. You can decide to participate now but withdraw your consent later and stop being in the study without any loss of benefits, which you are entitled to. You will be given a copy of this form for your information and to keep for your records.

Introduction
Instructions

In the past, we video recorded 170 people as they shared stories about events in their lives. We then transcribed the audio from these videos into text.

As a result, these stories sometimes have grammar errors and misspellings. You may also notice that people use fillers as they pause to think, using words such as "um," "like", "you know", "I mean", "okay", or "so."

In the next section, you will read one of these stories. To the best of your ability, please try to ignore any misspellings or fillers and instead focus on the content of the story.

Please read the story carefully because you will be asked to answer several questions about this story.

ID1002_vid4_neg One really sad moment in my life that really affected me negatively was when I found out that I have melanoma. I got diagnosed with melanoma in January which is--melanoma's a type of skin cancer and I remember it all started because I had a black vertical line underneath my thumbnail and I thought that like it was just a bruise, that it was no big deal, that everyone was freaking--like that there's no point to freak out about it. And then when I went to the doctor and heard them say that they need to biopsy it because it could be a sign of melanoma, I remember my heart dropping. It was just so crazy to think that I'm so young and that I could have something so deadly, like I always thought that cancer was something that would never affect me and I just...I don't know it was just a really sad feeling. Like especially hearing--like taking the tests was scary enough but as soon as they--like I got my results back which was a few days before my birthday and they told me that I do have atypical cells in my thumbnail and that I do need to have surgery and that I'm never going to have a thumbnail again, I remember crying so much I was just so sad and so emotional and so--like I was just wondering why me and then seeing how much it was affecting my mom, seeing her cry was just--it was just really hard thinking that this is happening to me and my family and that who knows what's going to happen from it. But everything turned out okay thank God, but that is definitely one of the saddest moments in my life.
